

Who Should Attend?

Anyone who:

1. Wishes to strengthen their spiritual life
2. Wants to have a better understanding of living for Christ
3. Wants to bear fruit for God
4. Seeks to know Christ in a more meaningful way

Do you have questions?

- Just what does God expect from me?
- How can I learn to spend quality time with Him?
- How can I involve my family in my walk with God?
- What place do I have in my church community?
- How bold should I be in confessing my faith to others in my daily life?
- Is anybody else hurting like I am?
- Why am I even here on earth?

These are some of the questions you may wish to ponder as you spend time with God on a Lamplighter Weekend. Be assured that God loves you, and so do we. We'll explore the answers together.

Coping with Life

Too busy to hear God calling your name?

Sometimes life just overwhelms us. Sometimes the day-to-day routine makes us forget just how often God works in our lives.

This weekend is for people who seek to know God more intimately. People who want to understand how to keep their priorities straight amongst all the huff and puff of today's society.

Have you taken time recently to kick back and really listen for that gentle, soft voice of God? Now you can. Come join us for a weekend of celebration and praise. Your walk with God will be blessed.

Most people who have attended have told us they couldn't remember laughing so hard and in some cases they even shed a few tears during the weekend.

You will hear stories of how people struggling with the same problems and situations you face every day have learned to let God take their burden and free their life. Yes, even those way-out problems that you can't imagine others have experienced like you have.

You can be as passive or as active as you like. This is not a "confession weekend", it is one of insight and hope where changes will occur inside.

We take care of it all

Due to the nature of the weekend, we want you to be free from distractions. You can relax and enjoy the company of other people who probably will start out as strangers, but end up as friends before the weekend is over. Some of us have made lifelong friends by attending such a weekend.

What can you expect?

There are a number of really nice surprises that take place on the weekend, and we don't want to ruin them for you, so you won't hear a lot about the details ahead of time.

Rest assured we will not expect you to tell your life story. We even have people who go through the weekend simply being quiet and just listening for the voice of God.

It seems that almost everyone comes to the weekend with different experiences. Some are Bible scholars and some have barely touched their Bible. Some are active in church, and some have seldom attended. What is common among us is the realization that we are not always living life to the fullest, and we want to know God's plan for us better.

So put your concerns aside and come experience a little bit of what heaven must be like.

Structure

We meet from Friday night until Sunday night. All meals and sleeping arrangements will be arranged and are included. You will need to bring a pillow, sleeping bag or bedding, and personal toiletries. Showers are available. If you need a special diet we can also accommodate you. If you take medications, bring them and let us know the schedule for when you take them so we can remind you to do so. Dress is very casual.

Don't expect dull lectures from professors or preaching from clergy. This is a dynamic weekend full of fun surprises, and run by lay people under the guidance of local pastors. It is very different than a typical church retreat or other gathering.

What's different?

The Lamplighter weekend is a 48-hour event. Thousands have already attended similar 72-hour events and will tell you how they have been personally blessed by the experience.

Trade a few hours of work for a little God time. It's good for your soul.
